

The background image shows a street scene with people's legs and feet. In the foreground, there are two large, cylindrical musical instruments. The one on the left is painted with vertical stripes of red, white, and light blue, and has a black strap. The one on the right is painted with horizontal stripes of red, white, and light blue, and has a large, circular, light brown drumhead. A wooden stick with a carved face is attached to the right instrument. The ground is paved with cobblestones.
